Ⅲ．次の英文を読み、下の［　　］内の指示に従って答えなさい。

Jill just bought a pet dog for her family. The dog will be delivered to their home tomorrow. Now, Jill and her son, Henry, are at a pet store buying items to welcome their new dog.

Jill: Henry, are you ready for our new dog?
Henry: Yeah! I already know what I will name him! I'll call him Charlie.
Jill: Charlie? Well OK, why don't we buy him a collar with 'Charlie' written on it?
Henry: Thanks, Mom. Oh, cool! Let's buy him some toys!
Jill: I'm sorry, honey. Right now we only have money for necessary items.
Henry: OK. Can we buy him toys later?
Jill: Of course!
Henry: So, what things do we need now?
Jill: We need things like a food bowl. And of course, dog food!
Henry: He can't eat our food? I'd like to share our meals.
Jill: No, he can't eat steak or pizza. Dogs need their own special food.
Henry: Oh, I see. Then, does he need special dog shampoo?
Jill: No. Just normal soap will do. But a dog brush may be a good idea.
Henry: This dog brush looks cool. Let's buy it.
Jill: You got it!
Henry: Where is he going to sleep?
Jill: Where do you want him to sleep?
Henry: Can he sleep in bed with me? Let's get him a nice blanket.
Jill: Hmm. He can sleep in your room, but not in your bed. We had better buy him his own bed.
Henry: Oh, I just wanted to buy him fun things, like treats, bones, and toys.
Jill: Cheer up. We can buy him those things later.
Henry: You promise?
Jill: I promise. Now, let's get ready to welcome our new dog, Charlie.

Imagine you are Erika.
Read this e-mail message from your classmate, Chen.
Reply to her and answer the questions.
Write about 30-40 words.
Write your message on your answer sheet.

Dear Erika,

The final exams are finally over. To celebrate, how about getting together at my home next Saturday? I'll ask Shohei and Yuto to come, too. Mom said we can use the kitchen. It'll be fun to cook something together for lunch. Actually, I'd like to learn to cook some Japanese food. You'll come, won't you? What dish should we cook? Do we need anything special for it? What would be good for dessert?
Looking forward to hearing from you.
